QUEERING FOOTBALL

Tackling Homophobia and Promoting Anti-Discrimination around Major Sport Events

Homophobia — prejudices and violence against LGBTIQ — is still one of the main and untackled problems in European football. Homophobic chants and physical attacks as well as ignorance and exclusion still happen on a daily basis. With QUEERING FOOTBALL we want to raise awareness for a wider recognition of homophobia as a main problem and create an inclusive football and fan culture where respect is celebrated and solidarity is cherished.

The project QUEERING FOOTBALL aims at using the UEFA EURO 2016 in France as a pan-European communication platform to tackle discrimination and hatred. The anti-homophobic measures in France will serve as an example for upcoming major sport events to ensure that questions of inclusion, equality and minority rights are on the agenda. Hence, anti-discrimination activities should be a precondition if a country/city is going to host a major sport event.

FOOTBALL SUPPORTERS EUROPE, through its anti-discrimination network, will be challenging homophobia and wider forms of discrimination during the tournament as part of the project.

The fans' united under the slogan All Colours Are Beautiful are a network of supporters from across Europe who actively engage against discrimination in football. Via one individual fans, members of fan clubs or ultra groups and united in the belief that our terraces should be open to everyone. Nobody should fear discrimination and hatred based on ethnic or national origin, gender, sexual orientation, abilities or any other reason whilst supporting our favourite football team. We are organised in different action groups with activities & campaigns in and outside the stadiums around women in football, anti-homophobia, against racism and fan right mobilisation or for welcoming refugees in sport. Our network has a mailing list, holds regular meetings and is part of the European umbrella supporter organisation Football Supporters Europe (FSE).
